Single Payer Health Care:
Medicare for All

Would a single-payer system in the U.S. eliminate waste, inefficiencies and profiteering? How would we pay for it? Join us and learn the details.

Countries that guarantee health care as a human right may do so through a single-payer system that replaces for-profit health insurance. Single-payer is financed by taxes that cover the costs of essential health care for all residents, as opposed to a multi-payer system in which private individuals or their employers buy health insurance or health care services from private or public providers. Canada and the United Kingdom are two examples — Canada’s single-payer system contracts for health care services from private organizations, while the UK’s system owns and employs health care resources and personnel.

Date: Thursday, October 12
Place: Harlem Road Community Center Auditorium
Time: 6:30 p.m. registration, 7 p.m. program

Speakers

Debra Street, Ph.D., professor and chair of the Sociology Department at the University at Buffalo. Dr. Street conducts research on health and retirement issues, including the impact of planning, public programs and tax policies on health and income security. She is also an excellent resource on the Canadian health care system.

Kevin Ketchum is an attorney, local health care organizer and active member of the Campaign for New York Health, a statewide coalition dedicated to passing and implementing legislation for universal health care in New York State.

The program will begin with a short film presenting the benefits of a single-payer system for both the public and employers.

Please register for this free program at lwwbn.org. We welcome the public.

League of Women Voters Mission

The League of Women Voters is a good government organization that encourages informed and active participation in the political process, works to increase understanding of major public policy issues, and influences public policy through education and advocacy. The League never supports political parties or candidates.

News from the Board

On November 9, 2017, the League of Women Voters of Buffalo/Niagara begins a celebration of women's suffrage centennial events with a gala luncheon at the Twentieth Century Club. The insert with this Voter provides the registration form as well as information for sponsorships. We have selected a number of businesses — mostly woman owned or women led — and the committee has written and called them. If you have a business to suggest as a sponsor, contact us immediately at the League office, or reach out yourself.

We're excited about this special event to celebrate 100 years of women's suffrage in New York State. We're also looking forward to 2019, when we'll celebrate 100 years of the League of Women Voters in New York State, plus the dual celebrations of the League of Women Voters of the United States in February and the ratification of the 19th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution that gave all women citizens in our country the right to vote.

These are momentous dates for women and the League. We need many hands and minds to celebrate well. We need you! You are invited to join the committee at our next meeting — at 3:30 p.m. on Friday, October 6, 2017, in the smaller building at The Buffalo History Museum. If you cannot join us at that time, please contact the League office by email (lwvbn@lwvbn.org) or phone (986-4898) to let us know you're willing to help out for the next phase of our celebration.

Finally, we will give an especially warm welcome to anyone who chooses to attend any of our celebration events in the next three years in period costumes from 100 years ago.

Great Decisions

October 5: Prospects for Afghanistan and Pakistan

Michele Dunham has volunteered to facilitate our seventh Great Decisions 2017 topic, Prospects for Afghanistan and Pakistan, on Thursday, October 5, from 10 a.m. till noon at 1272 Delaware. "Major internal conflict has plagued Afghanistan for four decades. The U.S., for its part, has conducted military operations in the country nearly continuously since 9/11. Today war with the Taliban persists, and tensions between the U.S. and Pakistan have gradually deteriorated. As his time in office drew to a close, President Obama limited further withdrawal of U.S. troops from Afghanistan. The incoming administration has a choice: will it maintain the status quo, completely reverse the Obama administration drawdown or withdraw completely? Does the U.S. face a no-win situation in Afghanistan and Pakistan?" Just reading the history is a fascinating reminder of our involvement and its leading to 9/11. Hope to see everyone.

Money in Politics Update

Give Us the Ballot, by Ari Berman

The 1965 passage of the Voting Rights Act (VRA) was the most significant advancement in American civil rights since Reconstruction. This act also opened the door wide for lawmakers to attempt to suppress minorities from voting, and this suppression continues today.

The Money In Politics Committee has been reading and discussing Ari Berman's well-researched book, "Give Us the Ballot: The Modern Struggle for Voting Rights in America." Berman takes us from the initial impact of the VRA, and the constant struggles with literacy tests, voter IDs, and redistricting, to the fateful U.S. Supreme Court Shelby decision in 2013. In Shelby County v. Holder, the court declared sections of the Voting Rights Act unconstitutional, reversing decades-long voting rights protections for minority populations. We now have numerous court cases challenging the VRA from Texas, Alabama, North Carolina and Wisconsin.

One incident highlights recent laws preventing people from voting. Craig Thomas, a black man from Granville, North Carolina, registered to vote before he deployed to Afghanistan with the U.S. Army. After serving abroad for 18 months, he went to vote early in the state's primary. He had returned from Afghanistan to the same house, in the same precinct, but was told at the polls that there was no record of his voter registration. In the past, Thomas could have registered during the early voting period and cast a regular ballot using same-day voter registration, but North Carolina's laws had changed. Thomas had to cast a provisional ballot, which was not counted.

In August 2017, a federal judge tossed out a new Texas voter ID law. Other restrictive voting laws have been overturned by lower courts. These cases are now making their way to the Supreme Court.

The League believes that voting is a fundamental citizen right that must be guaranteed. The League continues to work to restore key elements of the VRA and to respond to the ongoing challenge of voter suppression.

There are many issues for us to study and action to take. We welcome all members to join our discussions.

Volunteer Coordinator's Report

Since the Summer Voter was published, LWVBN volunteers have attended five naturalization ceremonies. The June calendar was finished off by Mike Egan and Marianne Poprosky at a service on the USS Little Rock. Patricia Wille and Judy Weidemann represented the League at a Burchfield Penney Art Center ceremony in July; two other July ceremonies at the U.S. Courthouse were attended by Barbara Brooks, Elisabeth Zausmer, Janet Goodsell and Deborah Shiffner. We started the August calendar with a ceremony at the U.S. Courthouse attended by Elisabeth Zausmer and Kate Wagner.

A request was made to the state League for moderators to cover 13 forums that the State Education Department was running across the state to comment on the Every Student Succeeds Act (ESSA) program being installed in the schools as a replacement for the plan based on the No Child Left Behind Act. Laura McDade and Agnes Annis moderated and kept time for the forum.

We have a number of new and returning members who have indicated an interest in representing LWVBN at naturalization ceremonies. I hope to see some new volunteers on our calendar. We have just six dates still open before the end of the year, including one volunteer for October 15, two volunteers each for November 2, 16, and 30, and December 7 and 21. Be sure to email Judith Clarke if you are interested in any of those dates.
